Treasure hunters

NEW FROM tv+

Natalie Portman and John Krasinski seek the elixir of life in a Guy Ritchie caper

NEW ACTION DRAMA

Fountain of Youth

From Friday 23 May, Apple TV+

With age-old mysteries, exotic locations and jaw-dropping stunts, director Guy Ritchie delivers Indiana Jones-style thrills in family friendly action-adventure film Fountain of Youth.

The globe-trotting caper follows squabbling treasure hunters Luke (John Krasinski) and Charlotte Purdue (Natalie Portman), estranged siblings who reunite for a wild expedition to unearth ancient secrets and find the mythological fountain of youth.

Luke is a daring, rule-breaking artefact hunter, while Charlotte enjoys her grounded, stable life as an art curator in London. But when Luke steals artwork from his sister's gallery and upends her whole world, Charlotte has little choice but to join Luke's madcap mission funded by terminally ill billionaire Owen Carver (Domhnall Gleeson).

As their puzzle-solving heist spans Bangkok, Vienna, London and Cairo, hot on their trail are Thai gangsters, Interpol and a dangerous secret sect led by the enigmatic Esmé (Eiza González).

Here, TV&Satellite Week chats to Krasinski, 45, and Portman, 43, to find out more…

Luke and co embark on an epic quest

What appealed to you about Fountain of Youth?

Krasinski Well, they don't make movies like this any more, and to be in a Guy Ritchie version of this genre is what makes it so unique and fun. This is the kind of movie I got into this industry for, and I hope all the fun we had making it pops through the screen. It's so family friendly – even my own kids can't wait to see it.

Portman Guy knows how to entertain and it's the sort of escapism we need right now. It's an epic family adventure.

What can you tell us about your sibling characters?

Krasinski Characters like Luke don't come along very often. He's a fun-hearted, adventurous spirit and sees Charlotte as a stick in the mud.

Portman Charlotte got married, had a kid and decided to have this safe, controlled life. There's a lot of sibling rivalry, but she rediscovers the beauty of adventure with Luke. I'm an only child and have always dreamt of having a brother, but not the sort who would drag me into trouble!

Did you enjoy the stunt work?

Portman Absolutely! Anything I've done on this scale before has had so much CGI, but most of the action is in real places with real people. We were filming car stunts in Liverpool and you'll see genuine terror and screaming from me because we were really whipping around corners in a chase.

Krasinski I've done action before but nothing on this scale. In Vienna, I was in a national library flying a drone around. It was surreal.

The five-month shoot took you to Thailand, Austria, the UK and Egypt. How was that?

Krasinski Seeing these places up close and shooting at the base of the Great Pyramids was thrilling. It was a long shoot with a lot of travelling, but my kids were with us in Vienna. They loved Guy Ritchie and were hanging out in his trailer.

Portman I wish we'd had more time in these incredible places. The Pyramids is by far the most insane location I've ever shot at.

If you had the chance to drink from a real fountain of youth, would you?

Krasinski We had this conversation every day on set. For me, I'd look for ways to find happiness in my life rather than constantly search for something I don't have.

Portman I love the metaphor that the external search for it symbolises a desire to recapture the wonder of youth. All we really want is to feel that excitement and awe of the world.

Owen Carver
Domhnall Gleeson
The eccentric, billionaire entrepreneur has a terminal illness and hopes the fountain will heal him. But time is running out.

NEW DRAMA

The Bombing of Pan Am 103

Sunday & Monday, 9pm, BBC1

Earlier this year, Sky Atlantic drama series Lockerbie: A Search for Truth featured a memorable performance from Colin Firth as Jim Swire, a real-life campaigning father whose daughter Flora was killed in the terrorist attack on 21 December 1988.

The atrocity – which saw a bomb explode in the cargo hold of Pan Am Flight 103 as it flew over the Scottish town of Lockerbie – remains the worst terrorist attack in British history, claiming the lives of 270 people and taking a terrible toll on countless others who were affected by the disaster and its aftermath.

The drama shows the awful events of 21 December 1988

DS Ed McCusker surveys the devastation

Now, a new BBC1 drama revisits the harrowing story by looking at how the investigation was conducted on both sides of the Atlantic, and how the fight for justice continues to this day.

TRAGEDY

'I was a young boy when the bombing occurred and vividly remember the story on TV,' says writer Jonathan Lee, who has penned the powerful six-parter. 'I felt like I knew the story, but on this project I realised how much more there actually was to know.'

Among the victims were 11 Lockerbie residents who died when the wing section of the place crashed into the town's Sherwood Crescent with the force of a meteorite, gouging a 30ft crater in the ground. The tale of the outrage is told from many perspectives, including Lockerbie residents and the Scottish and American investigators who took up the case in the days afterwards.

The opening episode largely follows DS Ed McCusker (SAS Rogue Heroes' Connor Swindells), a Strathclyde Police officer who is one of the first to arrive on the scene.

In the immediate aftermath, confusion reigns as to whether the incident is a tragic accident or a deliberate attack, but DS McCusker's boss, DCS John Orr (Peter Mullan), knows his force could be presiding over an enormous crime scene stretching 850 square miles.

It's not long before Strathclyde Police are contacted by FBI analyst Dick Marquise (Patrick J. Adams), who's been charged with investigating the death of the 190 Americans who were on the flight from London's Heathrow to New York City's JFK Airport.

GLOBAL IMPLICATIONS

'The writers have handled the story beautifully,' says Adams. 'The script does an amazing job of balancing the investigation and the human impact.'

Dick sends explosives expert Tom Thurman (Eddie Marsan) to Scotland to examine the debris field, but while his knowledge proves invaluable in the early days of the investigation, collaboration between UK and US authorities is far from smooth.

'This was an attack that happened on Scottish soil; it was something that belonged to the Scots,' explains Suits star Adams. 'Even though everyone wants the same thing – to get to the answer of who did this, and hold them accountable – you have different people with different agendas. Ultimately, that's a fascinating part of the story – it's about people connecting and communicating with each other.'

HONOURING THE TRUTH

Playing real-life characters was a challenge for the cast, especially for Swindells, who got a sense of the trauma experienced by those involved when he visited the real Ed McCusker ahead of filming.

'Ed had me around for lunch at his house and tried to recount as much as possible, lifting me up with as much support as he could,' explains Swindells. 'Being part of a drama that's based on a real story affects every little decision you make. There's definitely a pressure, a want and a need to do justice to the people involved, to the events and to the truth.

'It's important to memorialise the people who lost their lives, but it's also important for people to understand the toll that was taken on those who tried to help as best they could. Emotionally, it definitely takes a toll. It's the hardest I've ever worked.'

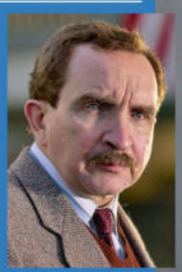
WHO'S WHO

Dick Marquise
Patrick J. Adams
The FBI analyst is keen to work with the Scottish authorities in order to get to the truth.

DCS John Orr
Peter Mullan
The Scottish police chief is unwilling to cede control of the investigation to either London or Washington.



Tom Thurman
Eddie Marsan
The American explosives expert plays a crucial role in proving Pan Am Flight 103 was bombed out of the sky.

Kathryn Turman
Merritt Wever
The FBI officer helps transform the bureau and Department of Justice to be more compassionate.

Moira Shearer

Graham Norton on what to watch out for at Eurovision this year...

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Eurovision Song Contest

Saturday, 8pm, BBC1

Switzerland plays host to the world's biggest music competition this Saturday as the 69th Eurovision Song Contest takes place in the country's cultural capital, Basel.

Twenty-six acts will be hoping to clinch victory for their respective nations, including country-pop trio Remember Monday, who will be representing the UK with What the Hell Just Happened?

Graham Norton will be on hand again to guide us through the music and madness.

Here, the 62-year-old reveals what he's looking forward to…

What keeps you coming back to Eurovision year after year? I love everything about Eurovision. Its scale and sincerity are unmatched. The extreme range of musical styles and talents, combined with the coming together of countries and fans, makes it a contest like no other.

Which entries should we be watching out for? It's a big year for party anthems, and the two that stand out for me are Miriana Conte representing Malta and Emmy for Ireland with an unlikely banger about an immortal dog.

Does the UK have a chance? Remember Monday have a great advantage in that they are unlike any other act this year. Their vocals and harmonies are flawless, the song has a very strong hook, and the trio are hugely likeable. With a decent place in the running order, they should do very well indeed.

Will this be your first visit to Basel? I haven't been before, but I'm expecting the contest to run like clockwork, with a very clean arena – and fingers crossed for a complementary chocolate or two!

Doctor Who

Saturday, 7.10pm, BBC1

For the Eurovision scoring this year, Doctor Who star Ncuti Gatwa will be the UK's spokesperson – but that's not the only crossover between the two shows this Saturday.

Airing immediately before Eurovision, this week's Doctor Who episode, The Interstellar Song Contest, sees the Doctor and Belinda (Varada Sethu) arriving at the 803rd edition of an intergalactic pop competition, with guest star Rylan Clark playing himself as the host, and a special appearance from Graham Norton.

Basel hosts this year's show

FUN FACTS

1 There are three hosts for this year's final – presenter Michelle Hunziker, comedian Hazel Brugger and singer Sandra Studer, who represented Switzerland at Eurovision in 1991, finishing fifth.

2 The contest programming will pay tribute to the roots of Eurovision almost 70 years ago, as the inaugural contest was held in the Swiss city of Lugano in 1956 – and was also won by Switzerland's Lys Assia.

3 Sweden and Ireland are tied for most wins at Eurovision with seven each, while the UK holds the runner-up record with 16 second-place finishes.

4 Doctor Who star Ncuti Gatwa will be the UK's spokesperson this year (see panel, below), revealing which country our jury has awarded their maximum 12 points to – following in the footsteps of Dame Joanna Lumley, Catherine Tate and Nigella Lawson.

Ncuti Gatwa

5 Acts tipped to do well include Sweden's KAJ with sauna anthem Bara Bada Bastu, Austria's JJ with Wasted Love, an operatic ballad with a techno twist, and France's Louane with Maman, a stirring tribute to her late mother.

Freddie Fox as Kid

'Expect the unexpected – this is probably the most twisty episode of the whole season,' says Clark. 'I've always loved Doctor Who. When I got the script, I started crying – it was unreal!'

The story sees the contest interrupted by a devastating attack that throws the whole event into disarray, with House of the Dragon's Freddie Fox also guest-starring as Kid.

'Kid is a charismatic, devious, revolutionary leader of a group trying to get justice for wrongs,' says Fox. 'Audiences can expect to see the most audacious interpretation of Eurovision ever – it's going to blow their minds.'

Craig's life hangs in the balance

CORONATION STREET

Is it the end for PC Craig Tinker?

Craig's full of beans as he arrives at Weatherfield nick for another placement with CID, and he has an added spring in his step after arranging a date with someone he's met online. But he soon becomes despondent as Kit – who he's supposed to be shadowing – ignores him. Offloading on Lisa, he concludes that Kit doesn't rate his work.

Lisa urges the wannabe detective to prove Kit wrong, so when Craig gets a call-out to investigate a disturbance, he decides to use it to do just that. Mere minutes later, however, he's found by Maria near the precinct, covered in blood and in a bad way.

Jess tries to talk to Craig

Craigy's rushed to hospital, where medics discover he has swelling on the brain. Regaining consciousness, he tells paramedic Asha that he can remember what happened, but as his colleague Jess then tries to question him, his condition suddenly deteriorates.

As his pals back on the cobbles wait anxiously for an update, are they about to be floored by some tragic news?

PLUS Mick vows to kill Kit as he learns of his betrayal, frightened Lou does a runner and leaves daughters Shanice and Joanie with Tim, and Lisa makes a big decision after deciding she needs to grab happiness when she can.

Rose Ayling-Ellis goes undercover in a dangerous police investigation

NEW DRAMA

Code of Silence

Sunday & Monday, 9pm, ITV1 (box set, ITVX)

After her acclaimed performance in BBC1 thriller Reunion, former EastEnders actor Rose Ayling-Ellis takes the lead role in ITV1's six-part crime drama Code of Silence as a lip-reader who puts herself in harm's way while helping the police.

Working in the canteen at a Canterbury police station, cash-strapped Alison Brooks (Ayling-Ellis) dreams of a more interesting life and is tired of being underestimated because she is deaf. However, an opportunity to prove herself arrives when DS Ashleigh Francis (Ghosts' Charlotte Ritchie) asks Alison to use her lip-reading skills to assist in an ongoing investigation.

DS Francis and her colleague DI James Marsh (Broadchurch star Andrew Buchan) are keeping tabs on a criminal gang they suspect is planning a heist and, initially, they are pleased with Alison's ability to decipher conversations captured on CCTV and spy-camera footage.

Keen to impress, Alison starts acting on her own initiative and gets close to gang member Liam Barlow (Kieron Moore). It's a high-risk move that places her in real danger and could threaten the operation – or produce vital intelligence.

MAKING HER MARK

While DI Marsh is initially angry about Alison's interventions, DS Francis forms a personal bond with the new recruit.

'Alison is bold and courageous, but Ashleigh knows how much danger she is in and tries to rein her in,' says Ritchie. 'So there's a tension, but one that comes from intimacy.'

For Ritchie, 35, and the rest of the cast, which also includes Joe Absolom and comedian John Bishop, the project was a welcome opportunity to learn more about the lived experience of deaf people.

'It opened a door to a world that I knew nothing about,' says Buchan, 46, who conducted his own research into how the police use lip-readers. 'I did a bit of a deep dive into forensic lip-readers, and these people are highly sought after by law enforcement. They spend hours analysing CCTV footage, trying to catch killers, rapists, all manner of criminals. They watch the footage and try to help crack the case.'

Alison with the police team

For Ayling-Ellis, being approached to play Alison was a groundbreaking moment in her career.

'It's exciting, because it's the first time we get to see a deaf lead,' says the 30-year-old, who took the opportunity to teach her fellow cast members some sign language.

'I avoided teaching them the signs for rude words, because I thought they would be the only ones they'd remember!'

The Brontës by Anita Rani: Sisters of Disruption

NEW

Tuesday, 9pm, Sky Arts

Broadcaster Anita Rani made her name hosting BBC1's Watchdog (2009-10) and C4's antiques series Four Rooms (2011-15). She competed in Strictly Come Dancing in 2015, fronted C4's 2021 quiz The Answer Trap, and is a regular presenter on BBC1's Countryfile (inset).

HER NEW SHOW

This week, Rani presents a one-off documentary reflecting on the influence that authors Charlotte, Emily and Anne Brontë had on her when she was growing up in Bradford, West Yorkshire, close to where the sisters had lived in Haworth. She also explores how the siblings pushed boundaries with novels such as Jane Eyre, Wuthering Heights and The Tenant of Wildfell Hall.

'I've always been a fan of the Brontës,' says Rani, 47. 'They were smart, educated women who talked about women's issues and abusive relationships. It takes bravery to write about those things.'

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Big Zuu and AJ Tracey's Rich Flavours

Tuesday, 9pm, Sky Max & Sky Showcase

Rapper turned TV chef Big Zuu won two BAFTAs in 2022 for Big Zuu's Big Eats, in which he cooked for stand-up comedians touring the UK. Now, the larger-than-life star is taking his culinary skills across the globe in new Sky Max series Big Zuu and AJ Tracey's Rich Flavours.

In the three-parter, Big Zuu and his rapper cousin AJ Tracey explore some of the world's most expensive and outrageous dishes as they visit South Korea, New York and the Scottish Highlands, while learning more about the creators and the cultures and customs of the countries they visit.

Here, Big Zuu, 29, reveals what's in store…

The cousins meet Yi Seok in South Korea

What makes Rich Flavours different from other food shows? The series sees AJ and me indulging in the expensive cuisines and delicacies of the world. What makes it different is that we eat the food, take inspiration from the rich flavours, then, at the end, we make our own version of it.

Did you enjoy teaming up with AJ? The pair of us have experienced so many things since we were young. We never thought we'd do it on camera, so getting to travel the world together has been sick.

NEW CRIME DRAMA

The Chelsea Detective

Wednesday & Thursday, 8pm, U&Drama (box set, U)

As DI Max Arnold (Adrian Scarborough) returns to the affluent London borough of Chelsea to solve more crimes this week, the cop's first case finds him jumping on his trusty electric bike to unravel the mystery behind a body discovered on an allotment.

'It's a wonderfully imaginative story,' says Gavin & Stacey star Scarborough, whose character later investigates the murder of an antiques dealer and the death of a climate scientist. 'It was also great to be filming on an allotment because I've got one myself, so it was nice to compare and contrast everyone's broad beans to my own!'

Cooking up a treat

Big Zuu and AJ Tracey

You start in South Korea. How was that? We went hunting for ginseng, which was great fun. South Koreans love the finer things in life, so we had high tea. I understand why rich people like it, but I preferred eating fried chicken on the street corner.

You cook fried chicken for a member of the royal family, Yi Seok. How did he rate it? He absolutely loved it. It was nice to meet South Korean royalty, but I like being a normal person and doing normal things. I loved driving through the city on a tuk-tuk!

You also visit New York and the Scottish Highlands, taking part in challenges along the way. Did things get competitive? AJ and I played padel in New York and the session was really intense. We also went fly fishing in Scotland – I was surprised by how beautiful the Highlands are, but New York is my favourite place with its crazy food and culture.

The baffling case leads all the way to the American embassy, with ER and A Discovery of Witches star Alex Kingston playing US ambassador Emily Morgan.

'Alex and I worked together many years ago on Upstairs Downstairs and it was so nice to see her again,' says Scarborough. 'Viewers will see Max coping in his usual way. He digs his heels in. He's always thinking outside the box and comes up with a cunning and clever way to catch who he thinks the murderer might be.'

LOOKING FOR LOVE

This time around, Max also has to contend with his first foray back into the tumultuous world of dating after the collapse of his marriage to Astrid (Anamaria Marinca).

'Max can be a bashful person at the best of times and quite self-effacing,' laughs Scarborough. 'Putting himself out there is a tricky thing for him to do. I don't know how much he enjoys it.'

However, one thing Max can always rely on is the support of his police colleague DS Layla Walsh (Vanessa Emme).

'They have a genuine friendship and I would say that's echoed off-screen with Vanessa and me, too,' says Scarborough. 'She's brilliant and I'm blessed to have her on my side quite frankly.'

Little Disasters

NEW Available: Thursday 22 May
Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 6

When a baby girl is rushed to hospital suffering life-threatening head injuries, a friendship group of parents is ripped apart in psychological thriller Little Disasters.

Based on the bestselling novel by Sarah Vaughan, the six-parter stars Troy and Inglourious Basterds actor Diane Kruger as devoted mother of three Jess, whose youngest child, Betsy, has sustained catastrophic injuries while under her care at home.

Meanwhile, Jess' good friend Liz (Jo Joyner), who has known Jess since they met 10 years ago at an antenatal class, is a doctor working in the A&E department the night Betsy is brought in.

'Jess doesn't seem to know what happened to Betsy and can't explain her injuries', says former EastEnders star Joyner. 'As a doctor, Liz has protocol to follow and although Liz knows Jess is not the sort of person to harm her child, she also knows good people can do bad things. Liz ends up contacting social services – and once she's made that call, there's no going back.'

As the drama unfolds, the women's other friends from their antenatal class – lawyer Charlotte (Shelley Conn) and stay-at-home mum Mel (Emily Taaffe), and their respective husbands, Andrew (Patrick Baladi) and Rob (Stephen Campbell Moore) – find themselves dragged into the ensuing fallout, not knowing whose version of events to believe.

JJ Feild and Diane Kruger

WORST NIGHTMARE

Meanwhile, Jess' husband, Ed (JJ Feild), is struggling with the unthinkable possibility that his wife may have harmed their child.

'It was after having her third child that Jess' life started to unravel, and she's been experiencing intrusive thoughts,' says Kruger, 48. 'She's ashamed that she can't cope, but she doesn't want to admit to herself that she needs help.'

Kruger says viewers will be kept guessing as more

Jess
Diane Kruger
The devoted mum of three is married to wealthy Ed (JJ Feild). Her world implodes when she's accused of harming her youngest child, Betsy.

revelations come to light and we realise not everyone's marriages are as strong as they'd have the others believe.

'It is an intriguing plot that keeps everyone guessing and on their feet,' she explains. 'The drama deals with relationships, the judgements people make and also post-partum depression and what women can go through after birth. As a mother myself, I had great empathy for Jess.'

The drama is set in the affluent area of Richmond, south-west London, and was shot there and also in Budapest.

'Budapest doubles as Provence in the drama,' reveals Joyner, 47. 'There were beautiful locations and the cast had a lot of fun. We enjoyed a few meals out together but you could tell we are all of a certain age. There was no clubbing – it was all nice wine, nice meal, bed by 11 o'clock, and a lot of crosswords being done in between scenes!'

Stanley Tucci digs deeper into Italian cuisine and culture in a sumptuous new series

Disney+ Tucci in Italy

NEW Available: Mon 19 May Genre: Travelogue Season: 1 Episodes: 5

Hot off the success of his BBC2 series Searching for Italy, Stanley Tucci is back for seconds in a deliciously entertaining five-part series exploring his ancestral homeland.

Airing on both Disney+ and National Geographic, Tucci in Italy follows the actor, author and full-time foodie on a mouth-watering exploration of the deep connections between Italian cuisine, culture and landscape across five diverse regions.

Here, TV&Satellite Week chews the fat with Tucci, 64, about his culinary adventures...

Tucci sampling some cheese

What can we expect from this new series? I really wanted to show Italy in a way that people haven't seen before because it's incredibly complex. It's not just pizza, pasta, sunshine, mandolins and the Mafia. There's much more than that. You'll also see me eat a lot of tripe!

How has your connection with Italy evolved while presenting these travelogues? It's reconnected me to my roots and Italy has become a second home in a strange way. But this time, I'm going to regions that I hadn't really spent time in before, like Abruzzo, which was amazing. I also fell in love with Trentino-Alto Adige in the Dolomites and went back after filming.

How has food shaped your identity? You are what you eat, right? I grew up in a family that put great importance on food and it's a huge part of who I am. In fact, food is now almost eclipsing my day job as an actor.

Do you try to re-create dishes from your travels for your family after filming? Absolutely. My son is a chef now, so I'm afraid to try out stuff on him, but I do for the little ones and my wife, Felicity [sister of actor Emily Blunt]. My kids are all very connected to Italy, and like the Italians, I love nothing more than cooking with them and sitting around the table chatting. When we share the process of growing, cooking and eating food together, it's the greatest connector in the world.

● Tucci in Italy is also airing weekly on National Geographic from Wednesday 21 May at 8pm

prime Nine Perfect Strangers

NEW Available: Thursday 22 May Genre: Drama Season: 2 Episodes: 8 (first two episodes from 22 May, then weekly)

A new batch of strangers step into the world of mysterious wellness guru Masha Dmitrichenko in the second run of the hit Prime Video thriller.

Playing out over the course of a week, the new eight-part season sees the group arrive at exclusive retreat Zauberwald in the Austrian Alps as they prepare to transform themselves and shed light on their past lives.

Masha (Nicole Kidman) has relocated to Europe in a bid to escape legal issues in America. Last time out, she controversially microdosed her clients at her Californian spa with psychedelics.

This time, the nine strangers – including billionaire David Sharpe, played by Mark Strong – are connected in ways they could never imagine. David agrees to attend Zauberwald under the guise of spending time with his son Peter.

'Peter believes his father has come because he hasn't been the best father over the years,' explains Strong. 'But he has an ulterior motive. He's aware of Masha's success and is looking to meet her.'

Other guests include Brian (Murray Bartlett), a former children's-show host, while glamorous Victoria (Christine Baranski) arrives at the resort with a new beau.

'It's a brutal, trippy and hilarious tale,' says Strong, 61. 'While working on the show, the cast all became really close, so nine perfect strangers have actually become nine really good friends!'

Christian Cooke as Garry Kasparov

Christian Cooke plays chess champion Garry Kasparov as he takes on a supercomputer

Rematch

NEW Available: Wednesday 21 May
Genre: Drama Season: 1
Episodes: 8

The Queen's Gambit became an unexpected hit for Netflix, turning its lead actor Anya Taylor-Joy into a global star and boosting interest in chess around the world. Now, there's a new chess-based drama on Disney+ starring Christian Cooke as Russian chess grandmaster Garry Kasparov.

Set in the late 1990s, Rematch focuses on the true story of the battle between the then world chess champion and an IBM supercomputer dubbed Deep Blue, which was programmed to calculate more than 200 million moves per second.

At the time, IBM was losing sales and the firm set its sights on Deep Blue beating Kasparov to increase publicity and company stock.

'Kasparov had played Deep Blue in 1996 and won, but the following year IBM offered him a lot of money for a rematch,' says Cooke, 37. 'Money wasn't what Kasparov courted necessarily. He was a real advocate of technology and genuinely wanted to test the limits of Deep Blue's computing power.'

The eight-part drama follows the six tense chess games in the rematch and all the psychological warfare behind the scenes, as the Deep Blue team seeks help from other chess grandmasters to improve its speed and strategy.

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE?

The team also studies hundreds of Kasparov's televised games in the run-up to the showdown, yet refuses to give Kasparov any of Deep Blue's match data. How will the result shape the future of technology and how humans harness its potential?

'The series makes you reflect on technology and the value of human connection,' says Cooke. 'It makes you think about whether where we're heading in terms of AI is actually where we want to be.'

Cooke not only had to master a Russian accent for the role, but he also had to learn hundreds of chess moves.

'I don't really play chess, so it was memorising 30 or 35 moves per game. And the Russian accent was tricky to master, too – it can be very easy to verge into Bond villain territory.'

Sir David Suchet starts his journey in South Africa

Mystery train

Sir David Suchet follows in the globe-trotting footsteps of a young Agatha Christie

From left: Archie Christie, Major Belcher, secretary Mr Bates and Agatha Christie in 1922

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Travels with Agatha Christie & Sir David Suchet

Wednesday, 9pm, More4

Sir David Suchet has always felt connected to Agatha Christie, having played her shrewd Belgian detective Hercule Poirot on TV for nearly 25 years. Now, the actor is touring the world to learn more about the iconic crime writer.

More4's five-parter Travels with Agatha Christie & Sir David Suchet sees the star journey to locations in Southern Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii and Canada that the author, then aged 31, visited in 1922 when she accompanied her first husband, Archie Christie, on a mission to promote the 1924 British Empire Exhibition.

Along the way, Suchet takes photos with a camera similar to one owned by his photographer grandfather James 'Jimmy' Jarché.

'Every day, I almost had two people sitting on my shoulders – Agatha Christie on one and my grandfather on the other!' he laughs.

Here, Suchet, 79, reveals more about his travels…

Tell us about the thinking behind the trip... We wanted to follow in Agatha's footsteps and discover more about a young woman none of us really know. The journey was about seeing things Agatha experienced, but also the world as it is now and the differences.

Agatha Christie

What were your highlights? The Victoria Falls in Zimbabwe were phenomenal. And at a sheep station in Australia, I sat in the orange grove where Agatha once sat. The geysers in Rotorua in New Zealand were a wonder of nature, and Canada's Rocky Mountaineer train was amazing.

Did you uncover a different side to Christie? Yes, I only knew about her as this reserved grand dame. But in this series, I was meeting a different woman. In Hawaii, I saw what she was like when she had fun – she enjoyed surfing and was courageous.

Did the trip influence her work? These were the months just before she became really famous. She was learning her vocation. She put many experiences from the tour into her books. Major Ernest Belcher [the tour's leader] inspired a character in The Man in the Brown Suit [her 1924 novel].

You also look at the legacy of colonialism... We learnt about Cecil Rhodes and the Rhodes Must Fall movement led by students who had an adverse reaction to him – he was to blame for beginning apartheid. But my driver felt that without Cecil Rhodes, South Africa wouldn't have the economy it has. I'm still digesting both sides.

How a school infected its pupils with deadly blood...

DEATH sentence

NEW FACTUAL

The British Blood Scandal: Poisoned at School

Tuesday, 9pm, ITV1

When Angela Newcombe's son Neil was offered specialist treatment at a highly regarded boarding school, which included a dedicated medical team, the family were understandably delighted.

Neil had haemophilia, a condition where the blood doesn't clot properly, and he was among a group of children with haemophilia invited to attend the Lord Mayor Treloar College in Hampshire.

During the 1970s and 1980s, the school offered haemophiliac pupils a new 'miracle cure' called Factor VIII, with NHS treatment on site and the chance to live a normal childhood. Yet Factor VIII, which came from donated plasma imported from the United States, was infected with hepatitis and HIV viruses. And although NHS clinicians knew the risks, they continued treating pupils, even running research trials without the parents' consent.

Neil was just 12 when he tested positive for HIV, yet doctors didn't tell his family for three years.

'We were introduced to Factor VIII as this marvellous drug, but we were never informed of the risks,' says Newcombe in ITV1's one-off documentary. 'HIV slowly took Neil's life away, and he died at 22. The main grief I suffer is sending him to Treloar's. It was sending him to his death.'

HEAVY TOLL

Of the 122 haemophiliac pupils who attended Treloar's, around 90 have since died from the effects of infected-blood products. Their story is part of a wider scandal that saw more than 30,000 people across Britain infected with HIV and hepatitis C during the 1970s and 1980s.

The documentary also hears from several former pupils as they fight for justice via the Infected Blood Inquiry, including Steve Nicholls, who recalls how, after leaving school, his friends started dying one by one.

'Treloar's had a fantastic education, and I built some lifelong friendships. It was just like a family,' he says. 'But we were like guinea pigs – they had carte blanche to do what they wanted. They exploited those opportunities to do research on children, and I'll never forgive them for that.'

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

A MINECRAFT Movie

Jack Black and Jason Momoa star in this knockabout comedy based on the wildly popular videogame

FANTASY COMEDY

From Monday, to buy or rent from digital stores including Sky Store and Prime Video

Hollywood films have been mined from the unlikeliest of sources in recent years and turned out to be unexpected cinematic gems. Just think of The Lego Movie and Barbie. A Minecraft Movie isn't in the same league as those, but this goofy fantasy adventure comedy based on the bestselling videogame of all time has been such a hit with its young target audience that its recent cinema release has seen it breaking records at the box office as well.

Even the game's devotees, however, will find the film's set up clunky, with Jack Black doing a ton of exposition to explain how his character, Steve, has ended up in the cubist Minecraft universe of the Overworld, where everything from sheep, pigs and pandas to mountains and flowers is made up of, yes, blocks. The plot proper begins when four other characters – Jason Momoa's washed-up videogame champ, orphaned siblings Sebastian Hansen and Emma Myers, and their real estate agent (Danielle Brooks), get sucked through a portal into the Overworld and join forces with Steve to find their way home.

Black and Momoa go full bore at the silliness, while director Jared (Napoleon Dynamite) Hess leans into the puerile fun while sprinkling around fan-pleasing references and memes. 2025, PG, 101MIN

Small Things Like These

Available now, Prime Video ★★★★

Returning home to Ireland following his Oscar-winning success in Oppenheimer, Cillian Murphy delivers a performance of restrained intensity in this quietly powerful drama inspired by the scandal of the Catholic-run Magdalene Laundries and based on the novel by Claire Keegan. He plays a hard-working coal merchant and devoted father of five in 1985 County Wexford, whose job unexpectedly brings him into contact with the Church's brutal treatment of young women, stirring painful memories of his childhood as the son of a shunned single mother and presenting him with an equally distressing moral dilemma. Murphy's brilliant portrayal of inner turmoil is the heart of the film, but Emily Watson makes a big impression in a very telling role of the steely nun in charge of the local convent. 2024, 12, 98MIN

MYSTERY CHILLER

Heretic

Available now, Prime Video ★★★★

In some quiet US town, two young Mormon girls (Chloe East and Sophie Thatcher) are out and about trying to spread 'The Word'. But no one wants it. Not until they knock on the door of a genial Hugh Grant, that is, who invites them in. The girls slowly realise that this is a house with no escape, though, unless you put your faith to the test... Writer-directors Scott Beck and Bryan Woods twisty chiller sees them cleverly twist the knife when it comes to organised religion before diving headlong into a pure gothic chiller. East and Thatcher are both excellent, but this is Grant's film and he takes his off-kilter affable manner and fuses it with a softly spoken malevolence to create a horror villain for the ages. Blend all these factors together and you have one of the best horror flicks in years. 2024, 15, 111MIN

COMEDY ADVENTURE

Bookworm

Saturday, 8.15am & 6pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

A pleasingly quirky comedy from New Zealand, this features a star turn by young Nell Fisher who plays a precocious kid who meets her American illusionist dad (Elijah Wood) for the first time when her mum ends up in hospital. Father and daughter attempt to connect with a camping expedition, in which Fisher is determined to video a mythic black panther. The two end up in all manner of scrapes in a film that leans hard into Kiwi sardonic wit, as well as showing off the glorious New Zealand landscape. It's terrific fun. 2024, PG, 103MIN

On a barren, inhospitable planet, an injured Eiza González awakes with her dead crew members strewn around the living quarters, but she has no memory of what happened. So when Aaron Paul's pilot turns up claiming to be part of the team, should she trust him? Although falling back on familiar beats and tropes to tell his sci-fi horror tale, musician-turned-writer and director Flying Lotus utilises some gorgeous, wildly inventive visuals to enhance it, also bolstered by the lead actors' commendable work, too. The budget may not have been big, but the scope of Lotus' ambition certainly is. 2025, 15, 95MIN

ANIMATION

The Wild Robot

Friday, 9.10am & 6.10pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

This heartwarming DreamWorks animated movie sees a shipwrecked household robot wash ashore on an island populated by a lively array of animals. Unable to find a 'customer' for whom she can act out her programming, she reluctantly finds herself in the unlikely role of adoptive mother to an orphaned gosling.

Adapted from Peter Brown's best-selling children's book, The Wild Robot is a worthy heir to such robot-with-a-soul animation favourites as The Iron Giant and WALL-E. The story gets a tad mawkish towards the end, but overall the movie is a triumph.

The animation is stunning, while the script combines smart and funny gags with thoughtful ideas about AI and ecology. Lupita Nyong'o brings appealing warmth to the eponymous robot and she gets excellent support from the actors voicing her furry co-stars, including Pedro Pascal's wily fox and Bill Nighy's squadron-leader-like goose. 2024, U, 102MIN

Can Crystal Palace lift the famous trophy for the first time?

FA Cup Final

LIVE FOOTBALL

Crystal Palace v Manchester City

Sat, kick-off 4.30pm, BBC1 & ITV1

Crystal Palace fans will be hoping it's a case of third time lucky for their beloved Eagles when Oliver Glasner's side run out onto the hallowed Wembley turf for the FA Cup final on Saturday afternoon.

Founded in 1905, Palace have reached the final only twice before, in 1990 and 2016, losing to Manchester United on both occasions – but this time they'll be facing the blue half of Manchester when they take on a Pep Guardiola side that has fallen below its usual high standards this season.

City won't want to miss out on their last chance of silverware. The seven-time winners showed glimmers of their old form when they defeated Nottingham Forest in their semi-final last month, with goals from Rico Lewis and Josko Gvardiol, and they head back to the capital for a third straight final in the hope of salvaging a disappointing season.

FIGHTING SPIRIT

City will start as favourites, but after defeating Aston Villa in the last four, Palace winger Eberechi Eze insists his side shouldn't be underestimated.

'We believe we can do it,' says the England international, who scored a wonder goal in the semi-final win while Senegal forward Ismaïla Sarr fired in a brace. 'We showed in our performance against Villa that we're not worried or fearful of facing anyone. We will put in the work and hopefully we can do it.'

The finalists have met twice in the Premier League this season, sharing the points in a 2-2 draw at Selhurst Park, and City winning 5-2 at the Etihad, when Kevin De Bruyne was among the scorers.

HIS LAST BOW

With De Bruyne leaving the Sky Blues at the end of the season, the Belgium playmaker will be eager to sign off in style. The 33-year-old has lifted the trophy twice with City, and has 10 goals and 18 assists in 32 Cup appearances.

'We know it's been a tough year, but we are finding a little bit of a groove,' says De Bruyne. 'It would be nice for me to end with victory over Palace, so let's hope we can do that.'

TREBLE HUNTERS

An historic treble is on the cards when Chelsea and Manchester United meet at Wembley on Sunday afternoon for the Women's FA Cup Final (kick-off 1.30pm, BBC1).

The London side will start as favourites as the Blues bid to add the Cup to the Women's Super League and League Cup wins they bagged earlier in the season.

Chelsea, who have been virtually unbeatable since French coach Sonia Bompastor took over last year, are aiming for a fourth Cup victory in five years, while holders United are appearing in a third successive final and seeking revenge for a 1-0 defeat to Chelsea in 2023.

This season, the Blues won both fixtures in the WSL, albeit narrowly, with Lucy Bronze scoring the only goal of the match when they met in April.

Europa League Final

Wed, kick-off 8pm, TNT Sports 1 & Discovery+

The semi-final second legs had yet to be played as we went to press, but both Spurs and Manchester United were on course for victory over Bodø/Glimt and Athletic Bilbao respectively. That would set up an all-Premier League final at the San Mamés Stadium in Bilbao, the sixth all-English showpiece in any major European competition – with half of them involving Spurs – and would also mean six English teams in next season's Champions League. Premier League sides have won the tournament three times since it was rebranded from the UEFA Cup in 2009, with Chelsea the last English side to lift the trophy in 2019.

F1: Emilia-Romagna Grand Prix

Sunday, race starts 2pm, Sky Sports F1

F1 heads to Europe for the first time this season, with McLaren's Oscar Piastri leading teammate Lando Norris in the standings by 16 points after four wins from the opening six races. Sunday's Grand Prix at Imola will see a debut for Franco Colapinto, who is replacing Jack Doohan at Alpine, while former world champion Fernando Alonso will want to finally put some points on the board in what is proving to be a slow Aston Martin car.

England v Zimbabwe: Men's Test

From Thursday, play starts 11am, Sky Sports Cricket & Sky Sports Main Event

England warm up for the arrival of India next month with a four-day Test at Trent Bridge – the sides' first clash in the format since 2003. Ben Stokes captains a squad that includes Zak Crawley, Ollie Pope and debutant bowler Sam Cook. Meanwhile, Nat Sciver-Brunt takes over the captaincy as England's women begin a three-match T20 series against the West Indies with games in Canterbury (Wed, play starts 6.30pm) and Hove (Fri, 6.35pm) on Sky Sports Cricket & Sky Sports Main Event.

LIVE Celtic v St Mirren
11am Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports Football (kick-off 12.30pm)
The Scottish Premiership match from Celtic Park, as the season comes to a close. The hosts have won all three meetings this season with St Mirren, scoring 11 goals and conceding just two in the three games. The previous meeting at the start of March saw the Bhoys come away with a 5-2 victory that saw them score three goals in the final 22 minutes of the match.

LIVE AFC Wimbledon v Notts County
12noon Sky Sports+ (kick-off 12.30pm)
The second League Two play-off semi-final second-leg at Cherry Red Records Stadium. The last time these two sides met in the league at this ground was in March when the hosts claimed a 2-0 win thanks to first-half goals from Joe Lewis and Alistair Smith.

LIVE Crystal Palace v Manchester City

Sunday 18

LIVE Everton v Southampton
11am TNT Sports 1 (kick-off 12noon)
The Premier League match from Goodison Park, as the hosts play their final ever game at the ground they have called home since 1892. The reverse fixture in November saw the visitors claim their first league victory of the season thanks to Adam Armstrong's winner. The Saints also won an EFL Cup third-round fixture between the two sides on penalties in September.

LIVE Rangers v Hibernian
11.30am Sky Sports Football (kick-off 12noon)
The Scottish Women's Premier League match staged at Ibrox Stadium, as the two sides meet on the final weekend of the season. First half goals from Kathleen McGovern and Stacey Papadopoulos gave the visitors a 2-0 victory in the previous meeting between the sides in April, a win that saw them return to the top of the table with five games remaining.

LIVE Glasgow City v Hearts
12noon BBC Alba (kick-off 12noon)
The SWPL Championship Group match on the final day of the season staged at Petershill Park.

LIVE Chelsea v Manchester United
12.50pm BBC1 (kick-off 1.30pm)
The Women's FA Cup final staged at Wembley Stadium. These teams also met in the final two seasons ago, with Chelsea claiming a 1-0 win on that occasion. United went one better here last term when they overcame Tottenham Hotspur 4-0 to lift the trophy for the first time in their history, but the Blues will fancy their chances on this occasion, having enjoyed an excellent season in all competitions.

LIVE West Ham United v Nottingham Forest
1pm Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports Premier League (kick-off 2.15pm)
The Premier League match at London Stadium. In the reverse fixture in November, Nottingham Forest earned a comfortable 3-0 victory courtesy of goals from Chris Wood, Callum Hudson-Odoi and Ola Aina.

LIVE Arsenal v Newcastle United
4.15pm Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports Premier League (kick-off 4.30pm)
The Premier League match staged at Emirates Stadium. The visitors have beaten the Gunners in all three meetings this season, including two 2-0 victories in the semi-finals of the EFL Cup that the Magpies went on to win at Wembley Stadium. The reverse fixture in the league in November saw Newcastle come away with a 1-0 win thanks to Alexander Isak's 12th-minute header.

Tuesday 20

LIVE Manchester City v Bournemouth
7pm Sky Sports Main Event & Sky Sports Premier League (kick-off 8pm)
The Premier League match from Etihad Stadium. The two teams have met twice already this campaign, both of which were played at Vitality Stadium. In the reverse match in the league back in November, the Cherries earned an impesssive 2-1 victory thanks to goals by Antoine Semenyo and Evanilson. They also met in the FA Cup quarter-finals in March, when Evanilson scored again to give the hosts a lead at half-time, but goals by Erling Haaland and Omar Marmoush sent Pep Guardiola's side through to the semi-finals at Wembley Stadium.

KIDS WATCHLIST

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

sky cinema The Wild Robot

From Friday, Sky Premiere

Prepare to be enchanted by this animation about a robot called Roz (voiced by Black Panther's Lupita Nyong'o) that is shipwrecked on an uninhabited island and befriends the wildlife while learning how to survive.

Featuring other star voices including Pedro Pascal as a crafty fox, Catherine O'Hara as an opossum and Heartstopper's Kit Connor as the orphaned gosling that Roz looks after, this heartwarming film will take you on an emotional rollercoaster and melt the hardest of hearts.

Disney+ Lilo & Stitch

Available now, Disney+

Disney's live reimagining of the 2002 animated film is due to be released in cinemas on Friday. So before then, why not tune into the original on Disney+? It's about a lonely Hawaiian girl called Lilo who is being raised by her older sister, Nani. Chaos ensues after Lilo adopts a 'dog' (actually a destructive alien!) from the local shelter, naming it Stitch. But in all the mayhem, Lilo learns the true meaning of 'ohana' (Hawaiian for 'family'). A classic adventure for all the family.

Annabel Scholey and Sam Palladio as Charlotte and Jacob

FIRST LOOK

Annabel Scholey and Sam Palladio headline a new run of the torrid drama

The Couple Next Door

Suburban secrets are set to implode once more as C4's thriller The Couple Next Door returns for a second series.

The anthology drama will feature a predominantly new cast as another shocking liaison rocks a seemingly quiet cul-de-sac. Annabel Scholey stars as talented heart surgeon Charlotte Roberts, who is married to Jacob (Sam Palladio), a consultant anaesthetist. But when Mia (Aggy K. Adams), their enigmatic new colleague, rents the house next door, she soon becomes unsettlingly close to the couple, and there is further turmoil as Mia's past resurfaces and hospital patients begin to die unexpectedly. What is she hiding?

Aggy K. Adams plays Mia

DARK NEW CHAPTER

Sendhil Ramamurthy co-stars as Charlotte's old flame Leo, who re-enters her life, while Hugh Dennis is back as creepy neighbour Alan, who becomes friends with Mia.

'I am delighted to be joining the brilliant team and I am excited to be delving into David Allison's gripping new script with a hugely talented cast,' says The Split's Scholey.

'I was drawn to the project through its brilliant writing and challenging characters, and to bring Jacob to life is exciting,' adds Nashville star Palladio. 'It'll be great to be back on British screens and to explore a troubled, complex character, which is unlike anything I've done before.'

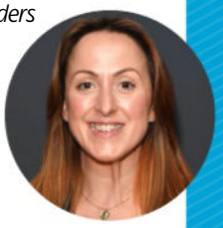
WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Chris McCausland

Seeing into the Future, airing on BBC2, follows the comedian, who is blind, as he journeys around the UK and Silicon Valley in the US to investigate technological breakthroughs that could change his life.

Natalie Cassidy

In BBC1's 12-part series Natalie Cassidy Learning to Care, the former EastEnders actor will undergo intensive training to become a carer, as she also highlights the challenges and rewards of the demanding job.



Coming Back

U&Drama's reimagining of Jersey-based whodunnit Bergerac will be back for a second run next year, which sees Damien Molony reprise his role as the troubled cop, who will investigate a murder at a wedding.

Comic sports quiz A League of Their Own, presented by Romesh Ranganathan, is returning for a final run on Sky Max later this year with team captains Jamie Redknapp and Jill Scott, series regular Micah Richards, and a host of guests.

Next week On sale Tuesday 20 May

Death Valley

Timothy Spall plays a former TV detective helping to solve real-life crimes in BBC1's comedy drama.

The Last Anniversary

BBC1's drama follows a journalist (Teresa Palmer) as she inherits a house on an island of mystery.

Dept. Q

In Netflix's thriller, Matthew Goode portrays a haunted cop who heads up a cold-case team.

Walking with Dinosaurs

The BBC1 show re-creates the lives of more prehistoric creatures.
